DRUGGIST SAYS HE'S NOT GUILTY

Oliver B. Stark, Milroy Pharmacist, Arraigned in Court For Liquor Law Violations.

GIVES BOND FOR 50 DOLLARS

Mrs. Rhoda Wolfe is Granted Divorce From George Wolfe, Arrested For Wife Desertion.

On three indictments, returned by the grand jury, Oliver B. Stark, a Milroy druggist was arrested for violation of the liquor law this morning. Stark was brought here this morning and arraigned before Judge Will Sparks in the circuit court. He pleaded not guilty to the charge and his bond was fixed at one hundred dollars in each case or a total of three hundred dollars. Claude Crane of Milroy went on the bond for Stark. His case will not come up for trial until next term of court, which will open in six weeks.

Stark is a young man and has been operating a drug store in Milroy for the past few years. He contends that he is not guilty and that the indictments are mere technicalities. He says that every other druggist practices the same thing, but that the grand jury returned three indictments against him.

There is still one indictment, returned by the grand jury, which has not yet been served. The sheriff has so far been unable to catch the person against whom the charge is made, but hoped to be successful in a short time.

Rhoda Wolfe was granted a divorce from her husband, George Wolfe in the circuit court this morning upon payment of the costs. She was given the custody of her three minor children, Donald, Herbert and Raymond, and Wolfe was ordered to pay three dollars a week for their support. It will be remembered that Wolfe was arrested in Indianapolis recently on a wife desertion charge, preferred by Mrs. Wolfe. He was arraigned and was released on his own recognizance to await trial.

POSTPONE MILROY MEETING

Congressman Barnard Will Speak There Friday Night Instead.

Due to the very inclement weather, the Republican meeting which was to have been held in Milroy last night was postponed. Congressman Barnard spent the evening here, talking with friends, and will address the audience at Milroy Friday night. He is scheduled to speak in the Center township school house in Center township tonight, but that meeting may be called off if the weather remains the same.

LOCAL HORSES ENTERED

Have Many Entries in the Fall Horse Show at Richmond.

The list of entries for the fall horse show in connection with the Richmond fall festival, celebrating the one hundredth birthday anniversary of Wayne county, have been published and shows that Rush county horse flesh will be very prominent there. William Dagler & Son, who operate the Posey stock farm, have more entries than any other one horseman, while Earl Hinton of near Glenwood will also compete for a number of prizes. Charles Dagler also has several horses entered.

IS RELEASED ON PAROLE

Man, Who Tried to Sell Horse at Knightstown, Sentenced.

John Highmiller, the Fall Creek young man who stole a horse from a neighbor some weeks ago, rode it to Knightstown, where he tried to sell it and was apprehended, appeared before Judge Jackson in the circuit court Wednesday and entered a plea of guilty to the charge of horse stealing, says the New Castle Times. In light of the evidence he could do nothing else as he was caught with the goods. He was given a sentence of from one to fourteen years and was paroled.

FILES CHARGE AGAINST NEIGHBOR

Mrs. Georgia Newlin Alleges That Walter Smith Has Sworn at Her in Affidavit.

SQUIRE KRATZER HEARS CASE

Alleging that he had sworn at her, Mrs. Georgia Newlin of East Tenth street has filed an affidavit against Walter Smith for provoke, before Squire James Kratzer. Mrs. Newlin charges that Smith has cursed her and has provoked her in numerous ways. They live near one another in East Tenth street. The affidavit was served on Smith by Policeman John Walters. He told the policeman that he was not guilty of the charge and that he would stand trial. Several witnesses have been summoned for the hearing. The case was set for Friday night, but will be held at another time, due to the fact that the council will meet in special session at that time.

BOX SOCIAL WAS ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

C. W. B. M. Auxiliary and Young Ladies Mission Circle Entered Honorary Members.

PLEASING PROGRAM IS GIVEN

The box social, given by the auxiliary of the C. W. B. M. and the Young Ladies Mission Circle, for the honorary members last night is conceded to be the most enjoyable affair given in the Main Street Christian church recently. About fifty were present, including the men, who are the honorary members of the organization. Prof. M. R. McDaniel's paper on "The Debt of Science to Missions" was especially enjoyable as was the short talk by Lincoln Guffin. The Rev. R. W. Abberley, who was called to Cincinnati, Ohio, yesterday afternoon, was unable to give his talk on "The Influence of the C. W. B. M. on the Church" and the paper was read by George C. Wyatt. The solo by B. F. Miller was very much appreciated. The boxes, prepared by the ladies, which contained the supper, were drawn by the people present. The affair was given to promote sociability among the members of the church.

CALLING MEETING.

IS FINED ON AN ASSAULT CHARGE

Fred Clevenger Pleads Not Guilty Before Mayor Black and is Assessed $10 and Costs.

AFTERMATH OF ENCOUNTER

Former Saloon Keeper Says he Will Appeal to Circuit Court and Bond is Fixed at $50.

As an aftermath to the encounter in Main street Tuesday night, when Fred Clevenger, a former saloon keeper, struck Harvey M. Cowing, former mayor of the city, knocking him to the street, Clevenger was arraigned before Mayor B. A. Black in police court this afternoon at two o'clock on the charge of assault and battery, preferred by Mr. Cowing in an affidavit, which was filed on the night of the fight. Clevenger pleaded not guilty to the charge and was fined ten dollars and costs by the mayor. The defendant promptly said that he would appeal the case to the circuit court and his bond was fixed at fifty dollars. The transcript will be made immediately and the case will be sent to the higher court at once. It will not come up until next term of court, however, as the court docket is full for the remainder of this term, which closes Saturday.

Harvey Cowing was the prosecuting witness for the State. No mention was made, during the course of the trial as to the reason for the unwarranted assault. It is said that Clevenger attacked the ex-official because he revoked his saloon license while he was mayor of the city. It is also declared by many that Clevenger has long held a grudge against Mr. Cowing for that reason. Smith, Cambern & Smith represented Clevenger.

FAILS TO PAY FOR SUPPORT

Jesse Crim Brought Before the Court and Settles.

Jesse Crim, living southeast of the city was brought up before the court today by Deputy Sheriff Kinnear, to pay support costs. He was ordered to pay a stipulated sum each week to support his children when his wife was granted a divorce. He had not complied with the court order and for that reason was brought up. He paid the amount and was released.

WILL RECOVER.

Comersville Examiner: Elizabeth, the little two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ashworth, who was fearfully scalded about the arms and limbs Tuesday afternoon, spent a restless night. Although the burns are serious, the physician states that the little lady will recover completely from the injuries.

HORSES SUFFER FROM FLIES.

This is the worst season of the year for flies and horses have been suffering considerably on account of their constant attack. Everyone should use a fly net which would greatly relieve the discomfort of the animals especially while standing at a hitchrack.

OWNS ONE HERE.

Greensburg Democrat: Isaac Schumaker and wife and J. H. Harris, wife and son, Tyson, will leave for their southern home at St. Petersburg, Fla., next Tuesday, after spending the summer here. Mr. Harris has purchased considerable real estate at that place and owns a fine

LIGE PEA TOOK JUST TWO 'SLUGS'

But he Was Arrested in Very Drunken Condition by Policeman Walters Last Night.

FINED ONE DOLLAR AND COSTS

Was Too Sick to Appear in Court This Morning—Blind Tiger Charge Against Him.

With a charge for operating a blind tiger hanging over his head, Lige Pea was arrested last night and lodged in jail in a beastly state of intoxication. He was brought up before Mayor Black this afternoon and fined one dollar and costs after he pleaded guilty to the charge. Pea did not have the money to pay the fine and Deputy Prosecutor Wallace Morgan agreed to stay his fine, if he would solemnly promise never to get drunk again. Pea declared that he would never touch another drop after hearing a talk by Mayor Black. The mayor promised him that he would not let him off so light on the next offense.

Pea was arrested by Policeman John Walters last night in West Second street. The officer said that Pea was so drunk that he could not walk and it was necessary to haul him to the jail. He told the policeman that he did not think he would get drunk for he only took "two slugs" and he did not believe that would have any effect on him. But it had its effect all right and Pea was not able to appear for a trial this morning. Pea told the police that he got his whiskey from an iron moulder, employed at the Scott-Madden foundry, who had since left the city.

The trial was set for this morning at ten-thirty o'clock and all of the officers of the police court gathered for the hearing. They waited about one-half hour, when Policeman Walters came back from the jail with the report that Pea was sick. A physician prescribed some medicine and he was able to be out this afternoon.

NATIONAL AUDITOR HERE

Examines Books of K. of C. and Finds Them Correct.

Frank J. Sherlock, national auditor of the Knights of Columbus, was here last night and attended the meeting of the order. During his stay here he has examined the books of the local order and has found them satisfactory in every manner. He delivered a lecture to the members of the order last night which was greatly enjoyed.

ADVANTAGE OF STATUTE.

Two of the commissioner cases to recover money unlawfully paid and retained, were disposed of Tuesday, says the New Castle Courier. One case was that against Wallace K. Deem editor of the Knightstown Banner, who took advantage of the statute of limitation and will continue to retain illegally the amount involved.

UNABLE TO SHOW.

Harrie Jones, who has his stable of horses at the Illinois State fair this week, is unable to show the class of his string, due to the inclement weather. Monday was the only time that racing has been held at Springfield.

THE WEATHER.

Fair and cooler tonight with frost. Friday fair and warmer.

HURT IN STRANGE ACCIDENT

School Boy is Injured While Sharpening His Pencil.

Meredith Hall, a pupil of the Raleigh high school suffered a painful injury Tuesday afternoon while at school. He was sharpening a lead pencil when a door was blown shut, striking and driving the pencil into the side of his neck. The injury is not considered serious unless blood poison should develop from the lead.

BIDS PRESENTED, NO ACTION TAKEN

City Council in Special Session Decide to Consider New Boilers For Light Plant.

MANY FIRMS REPRESENTED

At a special session of the city council last night, bids were received for new boilers to be installed at the water and light plant. Various firms from all over the United States had representatives present. In all there were about fifteen manufacturers of boilers represented. Each man presented his bid and was allowed to expound the merits of the boiler he wished to sell the city. This took considerable time and the meeting lasted until one o'clock. In the end, the council decided to take the matter under advisement and will report at a future date.

ORPHANS HOME HEAD MAY RESIGN

W. T. Stott, President of Institution North of Carthage, Contemplates Giving up His Work.

HE IS AN AGED WAR VETERAN

It is stated that W. T. Stott, for many years president of the Franklin college, and for the last few years superintendent of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home at Knightstown may resign, says the Edinburg Courier. Dr. Stott is a Civil war veteran and is now quite aged and has an immense amount of work to look after at the home, and feels that in justice to himself he ought to give up his position. It is conceded that he is one of the best superintendents the Home has ever had. In case he does resign he will make his home at Franklin, as many pleasant memories still linger around the college, where he spent the greater part of his years after leaving the army.

IS DEAD FROM INJURIES

Samuel Berry Expires at Home in Dunreith After Accident.

Samuel Berry, who was injured at Dunreith a few days ago while unloading a heavy coil of wire, which fell on him, breaking his right leg, and causing internal injuries, is dead at his home in Dunreith from injuries received.

He was 72 years of age. His widow, two sons and a daughter survive, viz: Wm. Berry, a farmer living near Dunreith; Mrs. Newton Wilson of Dunreith; and Fred Berry, a motor-man on the T. H. I. & E. traction line.

WILL INCESSANT RAIN EVER STOP?

That is Question Which Local People Are Revolving Over and Over in Their Minds.

CONTINUED FOR 60 HOURS

Is Damaging Crops and May Cause Unprecedented Flood to Result—Causes I. & C. Trouble.

That the present rain, without a precedent for length of a continuous downpour will wreck havoc all over the county and will cause a flood which has not been seen here in recent years, is the belief of many local people. Many local residents contend that rain has been falling continuously since Tuesday morning at five o'clock. It will be remembered that the rain has fallen almost incessantly for the past three days and at night also, so far as can be learned. Many, there are, declare that the rainfall has never really ceased since Tuesday morning, which would make a continual downpour of the fluid sixty hours. Old pioneers of the county say that there was never a time within their remembrance, when the rain fell incessantly for so long a time.

Some people declare that the rain has not been falling all the time for the last sixty hours. They say that it has stopped for brief periods and name many times when the rain was not falling. Others say that the rain has never really ceased and that a slight mist has been even falling, when it seemed not to be raining. The downpour has been hard most of the time in the past sixty hours. Seldom has it been so light that women would dare venture out into the storm.

The river is far out of its banks and is flooding the lowlands in the vicinity of the stream. Indications are now, if the rain continues over night, that an unprecedented flood will take place. Already the water is surging several feet deep over all of the fields adjacent to the stream and is damaging crops wherever they are to be found under water.

The water is now up to such a point that it almost runs over into the mill race. When the water once reaches the race, then the flood will extend down into the city. The hitchrack ground back of the jail is under water and already the water is gradually working its way out into South Perkins street.

It is said that the incessant rain will not only damage the crops but will hinder farmers a great deal in finishing up their fall work. They were right in the midst of their fall wheat sowing, when the rainfall began and, even if it should stop now, it would be several days before the ground would be in condition for tilling again. Farmers say that the continual rain may damage the corn crop as the long damp period may cause the corn to become musty and moldy.

The incessant downpour has caused the I. & C. traction line much trouble and has caused the poles to be thoroughly soaked with water, which makes them an excellent conductor of electricity. The poles attract electricity in the high tension wires and draw it down into the poles and set them on fire. In several cases the poles have caught fire in that manner and linemen have been compelled to stop the cars and put out the blaze.

It is estimated that there has been at least six or eight inches of rainfall in the past three days. Reports from all over the county show that the rain has been general as it has been all over this section of the United States.

The Important Problem

confronting anyone in need of a laxative is not a question of a single action only, but of permanently beneficial effects, which will follow proper efforts to live in a healthful way, with the assistance of Syrup of Figs and Mixture of Senna, whenever it is required, as it cleanses the system gently yet promptly, without irritation and will therefore always have the preference of all who wish the best of family laxatives.

The combination has the approval of physicians because it is known to be truly beneficial, and because it has given satisfaction to the millions of well-informed families who have used it for many years past.

To get its beneficial effects, always buy the genuine manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

Seventh District Candidate For Congress Clear on the Issues.

[Indianapolis Letter.]

Indianapolis, Oct. 6.—Linton A. Cox, candidate for congress on the Republican ticket in the Seventh district, makes himself entirely clear on the issues of the day. In his opening speech in this city, he went on record as a progressive, following Lincoln, Roosevelt and Beveridge. On the matter of J. G. Cannon for speaker Mr. Cox speaks plainly, saying: "I shall not favor Mr. Cannon's selection for the reason that I think it unlikely, under all circumstances, that he could render public service in that position to general satisfaction, and I do not think his selection as speaker will be desired by any considerable number of the people."

On the subject of Cannonism Mr. Cox says: "By 'Cannonism' I understand the concentration of the power of the house of representatives in the speaker who has for years been a political leader. I am against it because it has made trouble, puts the house, itself, in an undignified position, and, moreover, is wholly unnecessary, I believe."

It is believed in Indianapolis that Mr. Cox has made a good start towards victory in his congressional race. He is opposed by Congressman Charles A. Korbly, a young man who amazed himself by defeating the late Congressman Jesse Overstreet in 1908. Mr. Korbly is a man of considerable oratorical flourish, but lacks judgment. He has not been successful in gaining the confidence of the business people or of the masses. He has put his unwieldy foot in his own mouth several times, and his official record develops many inconsistencies. On the other hand, Mr. Cox is a man of high standing as an attorney, is popular and reliable, and inspires confidence. He makes a logical appeal for support. He was the author of the 60-cent gas law under which Indianapolis people obtain gas for one-third less than they formerly paid. This means about $1 a month to the average plain citizen who uses gas. The average plain citizen is grateful to Cox. Coming out on a progressive platform, urging the tariff commission with great earnestness and force, Mr. Cox is believed to have met the popular demand in the Seventh.

The Independents continue to join the Beveridge movement. Democrats of long standing continue to announce that they will help re-elect Beveridge to the United States senate. One of the latest to speak his mind is Augustus Lynch Mason, one of the most prominent men in Indiana. Mr. Mason, writing for the press, sets out with great clearness and force his reasons for backing Beveridge. Leroy Templeton, some time ago, came out for Beveridge. Mr. Templeton formerly was the Populist leader in Indiana. Lucius B. Swift, a man of great influence and earnest convictions, has written for the Review of Reviews a character sketch of Senator Beveridge in which he tells why the people ought to return the senator.

Getting over into the Democratic camp, there is E. B. Funk, of Gibson county, who declares he will aid in electing Senator Beveridge and oppose John W. Kern. Mr. Funk admits Mr. Kern's qualities as a gentleman, but insists that Mr. Kern is an "organization Democrat," and declares the belief that if elected to the United States senate Mr. Kern would be ruled by the Democratic caucus. Mr. Funk is not satisfied with the conduct of Democratic representatives and senators at Washington.

Word comes from Princeton that Mr. Funk is one of nearly 200 Democrats who think as he thinks and who are ready to vote as he votes, for progressive reform. Republicans are well pleased with the Funk movement. It is taken as indicating the trend all over the state. There has been such a strong undercurrent for Beveridge among Democrats in Gibson county that serious talk has been made recently in favor of a Democratic and Independent Beveridge club at Princeton. Added to recent reports from Parke county, where anti-Taggart Democrats have organized and pledged themselves to oppose all Taggart men for election, the Gibson county situation is regarded as especially significant of the 1910 tendency. From Madison county comes the word that many Democrats are for Beveridge. It is estimated that the Roosevelt speech at Anderson will mean something like 400 or 500 votes for the Republican cause. In that county it is made plain that the presence of Beveridge on the Republican ticket not only makes it easy for Democrats to break over into the Republican camp, but with many, the Beveridge issue makes it highly logical and desirable to bolt Taggartism.

Found After Seven Years.

Greensburg, Ind., Oct. 6.—About seven years ago the home of Will Cumback, now dead, was entered by thieves, and among the articles stolen was a gold watch valued at $275. The watch was found a couple of days ago by James Jones of Brookville, who is visiting here. He was watching some workmen tear away an old barn in the west part of the city and noticed it lying in the debris.

Flies Are Dangerous Now

With the advent of cool nights, the flies are now becoming a greater menace to health and life than at any other time of the year, as they are continually seeking shelter within doors. The local health authorities are taking precaution now, because the flies are more likely to be typhoid carriers, as this is the time of year when typhoid is prevalent. The authorities are urging the people to wage a vigorous warfare against this dangerous pest and safeguard themselves against the dangers of fly-born infection.

At this time it is particularly desirable to use no milk that has not been thoroughly pasteurized, because in milk the typhoid germs multiply at a very rapid rate. The statement was made today that milk from tuberculin tested cows is no indication that the milk is free from the germs of typhoid fever.

MORE HAIR FOR MEN, WOMEN, CHILDREN

Johnson's Drug Store Has the Secret and Gives it to the Readers of the Republican.

To properly treat the hair so that it will grow abundantly and luxuriantly, one should first banish dandruff and stop falling hair and itching scalp. This can easily be done with Parisian Sage, sold by Johnson's drug store, with an absolute guarantee to cure dandruff, to stop falling hair and itching scalp, or money back.

It cures dandruff by killing the germs, and it kills them so promptly that the most skeptical give it praise.

But Parisian Sage is more than a cure for dandruff—it will make hair grow on any head where the hair bulb is not altogether dead.

And we want every reader of the Republican to know that Parisian Sage is the most delightful hair dressing in the world. It is so pleasant to use, and its effect is so invigorating that it causes the hair to become lustrous, fascinating and full of life.

Large bottles only 50 cents at Johnson's drug store and druggists everywhere. Girl with Auburn hair on every package.

INQUEST INTO BLACK MURDER

Muncie Authorities Believe They Have a Good Lead.

NEW SUSPICIONS AROUSED

Mystery Surrounding Assassination of Muncie Capitalist, It Is Said, Is Now in a Fair Way to Be Cleared by the Discovery of Some New Evidence Which the Officers Are Reported to Regard as Important.

Muncie, Ind., Oct. 6.—"While, of course, I cannot say anything concerning the nature of the evidence we have obtained, we have found out in this inquest much that is highly important in connection with the murder of Norman Black."

After the temporary adjournment of a coroner's inquest, lasting several hours, Coroner Cecil of Delaware county made the above statement. Participating in the inquest, besides the coroner himself, were Mayor Tuhey, Police Chief Williamson, Prosecuting Attorney Long, former Mayor Guthrie, in the capacity of court stenographer, and numerous detectives, policemen and others. All were close-mouthed as to what had been revealed, but all admitted that the evidence obtained was important. Among the witnesses who testified are Clare Black, son of the murdered man; Mrs. Harry Albright, Mrs. Harry Fleming, Mrs. James Canan and Miss Mary Leonard. It is believed that the inquest has aroused new suspicions in the minds of the officers. According to one story, the officers believe they know one person who has information that would lead to the murderer's arrest. This person, it is said, was intimately acquainted with Black's life and will appear as a witness at the inquest.

Obituary.

Marcellus L. Wagoner was born June 29, 1846 near Manilla, Indiana, and died Sept. 9, 1910, aged 64 years, 2 months and 11 days. In his boyhood he joined the Christian church of Manilla; and from that day until his death he was a faithful follower of his Master. His fidelity is also shown by being a member of the Odd Fellow lodge for about 34 years and being a member of the Red Men Lodge for a number of years. He was kind and pleasant with all whom he met, honest and successful in all his business affairs. His death was caused by an attack of dropsy of the heart and it was not until after a long and painful illness that the end came although he prayed and was willing and ready for it to come. He is survived by 3 half-sisters and 4 half-brothers. He has fallen asleep; he is resting at last. The pulse has grown still and the fever is past; He suffers no longer in heart or in brain. And the pain that has so racked him shall not come again. He has fallen asleep. O Uncle 'tis fast Thank God as you weep. He is resting at last.

There's a Big Difference in Shoes

Some Shoes are exceptionally stylish, but oh, how they hurt when you wear them. Others are so mighty comfortable that you'd like to wear them if they didn't look quite so ungainly and clumsy.

Then again some are not serviceable—you don't get your money's worth.

It's possible to COMBINE style and comfort with good Hard Wear; the proof is our shoes.

Bread in New York is now sold by weight, and Mrs. Newlywed should be able to make a big profit by selling some of her muffins.

Dr. Cook has turned up in London, they say. If so he will find more residents of the State of Missouri there than on his last visit.

Nevada's new gambling law prohibits bridge whist. The sufferings of the Smart Set now in getting their divorces will be mendurable.

The public will not warm up much, either for or against the "New nationalism." They don't consider who shakes the plum so much as the quality of the fruit.

The humorous Mr. Lockwood, editor of the Marion Chronicle, states that Gov. Marshall's speech was not intended to be a keynote affair, "just a bungstarter."

Everyone must admit that the last Congress accomplished a big amount of work, but some people seem to think it should be reorganized as a Democratic debating society.

Electing a Democratic Congress this fall, with a Republican president still in office, would be like hitching two horses to a load, each trying to pull it in the opposite direction.

The Democrats seem to think that they know some way which the laboring men can pay European prices for everything he has to buy, and get American prices for his labor, the only commodity he has to sell, but the two things don't go together.

In calling attention to any weaknesses or imperfections in the Republican party, Governor Marshall should remember that his own administration from a business standpoint is exceedingly vulnerable. In his appointments he has failed to maintain the high standard set by preceding administrations. Within the past week the State Medical society has found it necessary to condemn one of Governor Marshall's appointments on the State Board of Health. It is said that the appointee whose removal is asked, has endeavored to commercialize the position. The State Medical society claims that he is grossly incompetent from a medical standpoint. The Governor made the appointment purely on political grounds, and evidently not for the good of the service.

It would seem that it is entirely out of place for our Democratic friends to make a campaign issue against the Republicans because of the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill. They should remember that eighteen Democratic senators voted with Senator Aldrich on all the features of the bill. The fact is, there are a good many Democrats who believe in the protective theory and their representatives in congress are perfectly willing to enter into any bargain by which they can secure protection upon articles manufactured in their respective districts and demanded by their constituents. To avoid any excessive tariff along such lines the tariff commission offers the only salvation to the public in general.

Events moved rapidly in Portugal. Hardly had the dispatches from there announced that a revolution against the monarchy was in progress, when the news came that the revolutionists were successful and that a republic had been proclaimed. Portugal is Spain's neighbor geographically and sparks of the fire may cross over to catch the dry tinder in Barcelona and elsewhere in the Spanish kingdom. In both countries the people are aroused. By formal treaty the Portuguese government is a ward of Great Britain in time of war, but this is an internal trouble and King Manuel, the youth and his advisers must fight it out as best they can. An army officer shot Bossarada, the editor and educator and radical. The fact inflamed the people who looked on Bossarada with high reverence as guide, counselor and friend. It is not likely that the government had anything to do with the murder of the republican writer and teacher, but it is blamed for it. The killing of Francisco Ferrer in Spain—the brightest, sanest mind in the kingdom, also an editor and especially an educator of the Pestalozzi model modernized—had most to do with causing the feeling today manifest against the government in that country. It is feared that England may assist to restore the monarchy. In this event the United States ought to give the new-born republic its moral support and the glad hand.

Roosevelt vs. Insurgency.

(Winchester Herald.)
Just now we are witnessing the effects of a political knockout. Insurgent newspapers and insurgent candidates have been lauding Col. Roosevelt as the greatest living insurgent as well as the purest and ablest statesman of modern times. They likewise day by day belittle and denounce the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill as corrupt, unjust and wholly indefensible, and that a party can not assume responsibility therefor and live in New York. Mr. Roosevelt sought control of the State convention in the interest of pure politics. The selection of delegates resulted in a decisive victory for the Colonel and the insurgent papers from Maine to California heralded in blazing type another insurgent victory.

Well the convention met. Col. Roosevelt in the saddle with spurs on, took command. His candidate for governor received an immense majority. He named every man for the resolution committee and of course got men he knew to be all right. In addition he closeted all night with the committee on resolutions and presumably aided in their preparation. The result is that the committee report and the convention adopted without one dissenting voice. First a resolution endorsing President Taft and his administration in the most hearty, emphatic and unreserved terms, second endorsing the Payne-Aldrich tariff law in the same unequivocal manner and going further and calling the attention of the country to the fact that its enforcement had demonstrated the wisdom of its enactment! Great griefs what a scampering!

The Star says things are different in New York, intimating that while endorsing Taft and the Payne bill in Indiana would be next to a capital offense, in New York and with Col. Roosevelt as sponsor it would probably be all right. The News of course hasn't forgotten the libel suit and therefore takes pleasure in denouncing Roosevelt, and as glibly charges him with being controlled by the "interests" as other insurgents do other people. Cummings, Dolliver and Clapp and the others, whose reputations mainly rest upon the prejudice they have built up against President Taft and the Payne bill, are at sea. They realize that they can not longer make hay with "Roosevelt sunshine" and yet they are afraid to attack him. Meanwhile the Colonel who, unlike many who have sailed under his great name, is in politics first of all a Republican, is now at work with all his intense force, to elect the Republican ticket in New York. He has brains enough to know that the way to do it, is to get Republicans together, not to divide them, and already what seemed a few days ago a hopeless situation, now looks promising for success. If his political wisdom is contagious, he ought to come West again, and inoculate a few statesmen with the disease.

Realizing the fact that it has been very inconvenient, and often times unsatisfactory to myself, as well as to my patients, for me to be out of town two days each week, I take pleasure in announcing that having now disposed of my Greensburg practice I will hereafter devote my full time to my home office. In the past I have been too busy to devote as much time to acute practice as was necessary, hence this change will enable me to answer all outside calls and give treatments in your homes more extensively. AMUSEMENTS

The Star Grand offers two pictures tonight. The first is entitled "The Troubles of a Policeman." It is a good comedy film that will take you back to your youth and remind you of those good old days. The second picture, "Scenes in Norway" is a pretty picture portraying one of the principal waterfalls and various scenes among the Laplanders. Earl Robertson will sing "Hanoko." The engagement of Clarence T. Eward, who was to sing tonight and Friday night, has been postponed until Monday and Tuesday nights.

The Vaudet management offers a big program tonight with two reels of pictures, one of them a feature Imp film. The Imp, "The Way to Win" describes the trials and the final triumph of a lovesick swain in his endeavor to win the hand of a girl away from a French count, who is his rival. He is succeeding well when he learns that the Frenchman is coming to claim the girl, because her parents compel her to marry him. Her lover conspires with the village constable and has him arrest the Frenchman for speeding. While the foreigner wrangles with the arm of the law, the young man drives way in the machine, dresses so that he is the image of the Frenchman and drives to the home of his fiancée. He is royally received and takes the girl out for a spin. The climax can not be told in plain words. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Palace management will offer a good program tonight in the Vitagraph film, "A Life For a Life." It is said to be a drama with an extraordinary good plot. The dramatic action in the picture is said to be of great merit.

FOURTEEN FOOT CORN.

Connersville News: The tallest stalk of corn reported in the county thus far this season stands in a small patch on the farm of John Jonas, four and one-half miles southwest of the city. The stalk is fourteen feet and two inches tall and the point of the ear is eight feet from the ground.

MAD ITCH PREVAILS.

(Greensburg Review.) A few cases of strange actions among cattle in this county followed by the death of the afflicted animals has created a stir among farmers. It is a mystery and needs an explanation. There are divers theories. Some thought the cattle had been snake bitten, others attributed the malady to the "loco" plant, the dread of ranchmen in the Southwest.

One farmer in describing the actions of the afflicted cattle said that at a furious rate and plowing up the ground with their horns. They ran against trees, the fences or whatever is in reach like they were mad—or crazy with the itching, which is the result of a disordered brain affected through the pneumogastric nerve.

Dr. A. D. Galbraith was consulted. He referred to a practical experience had by him on the College-farm at Knoxville, Tennessee, where he witnessed, studied and treated many cases of this disease. He says that the technical name, gastritis, expresses the nature of the disease. It is an inflammation resulting from an impaction of undigested, indigestible food in the third stomach of the animal. It is caused mainly at this season by allowing cattle to follow hogs that are fed on green corn—stalk and all.

Fish Brothers Farm Wagons

The Best Ever as Indicated by the Cut Above

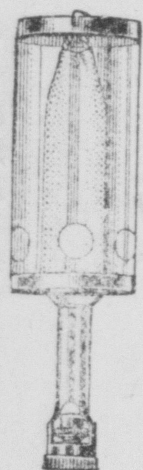

If you will come to my place of business, I will show you a picture of two of these wagons (of the size shown here) carrying a load of 43000 lbs. and can furnish witnesses who saw it done. Give me a chance to show you the wagon and quote our prices. For fear you will think the two wagons referred to were especially built, I will state that they were taken from a car shipped to Richmond, Indiana, as regular stock. CALL AND SEE THEM.

The Imperial Universal Three Flue Base Burner

IMPERIAL UNIVERSAL

The Most Economical
The Most Powerful
The Most Durable

The Most Economical because it burns less coal than any other Base Burner on the market.

The Most Powerful because it will heat more space than any other Base Burner of the same size fire bowl with less amount of coal.

The Most Durable because it is made by the best skilled workmen and the very best material that can be obtained.

Any Base Burner Will Burn Coal

and any Base Burner will heat your ceiling. But what you want is a Base Burner that will heat your floor. We positively guarantee the Imperial Universal to be a perfect floor Heater and will heat your floor more uniformly and with less fuel than any other Base Burner made. It costs no more than any other high grade Base Burner and will pay for itself in a few years in economy of fuel.

The Imperial Universal Base Burner has Patent Duplex grates with outside shaking ring which operates on Ball Bearings, working easily with practically no friction and will not bind nor stick when stove is hot.

All Mica Doors, Ash Pit Doors, Swing Top, Main Top and automatic magazine cover, are machine faced so as to prevent any leakage of gas. All nickel parts, Fire Bowl, Duplex Grates, Mica Doors, Magazine and Magazine Covers can be easily removed without taking out a bolt or a screw, thus making it very easy for two men to carry the stove anywhere.

Come in and let us demonstrate this stove to you and you will be convinced as well as we are that it is the Greatest Improved and Best Stove on the market.

LORD LOVELAND DISCOVERS AMERICA

CHAPTER IX.

LOVELAND walked out of the dining room of the palatial hotel hardly knowing what he meant to do.

His wish was to punish those who had insulted him, but how was the question ringing in his brain. A gentleman could not knock down a management or punch its head. "A management" seemed intangible, out of reach.

Val's first thought was to march up to the desk and "have a row" with somebody, but an instant's reflection showed him that it would be more in accordance with dignity to go to his own quarters and command a representative of the "management" to come to him.

This resolve he carried out. Having reached his room and called down through the telephone for the manager, he was not kept waiting long before a gentlemanly middle aged person appeared at his sitting room door.

"Are you the manager of this hotel?" Loveland inquired brusquely.

"I represent the manager," the newcomer returned.

"Very well, then," said Loveland. "I want you to tell me the meaning of this." And he indicated the typewritten letter and the two bills, which he had laid conspicuously on the table.

The man scarcely glanced at the papers, about which he was evidently well informed already. "The meaning is that unfortunately we're obliged to request that you vacate this suit immediately," he replied.

"Suppose I refuse to go?"

"Oh, I guess you won't do that?"

"You're right," said Val. "I wouldn't stop here now if you paid me twelve times as much as you want me to pay you. And, by the way, I can't pay tonight. You'll have to wait till tomorrow, when I can get to the—er—bank."

"I'm afraid we can't wait," the other answered quickly. "If you aren't able to pay we shall have to keep your baggage till you do."

Loveland stared. "That's a little too steep, isn't it?" he sneered. "You turn me out of your hotel in the most insulting and unprovoked manner and then expect me to go somewhere else without my luggage. Are these American manners for foreigners?"

"They have to be with some foreigners," returned the other, smiling mysteriously.

"I intend to go now, whether you like or not," said Val. "And take my luggage with me."

"You can't take it unless you pay your bill. That's the law, and our police know how to enforce it. If I were you I wouldn't do anything to make it necessary to call the police. Once in their hands, you might be quite awhile getting out, you know."

My Corns Don't Hurt A Bit.

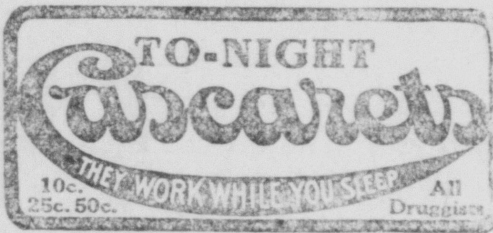

Tired, Ailing, Swollen, Smelly, Sweaty Feet, Corns, Callouses and Bunions, TIZ Cures Right Off.

Say good-bye to your corns the very first time you use TIZ. You will never know you have a corn, bunion or callous, or sweaty, tired, swollen, aching feet any more. It's just wonderful the way the pain vanishes. Rub the corn-killer with your fist if you wish—no more pain after TIZ than if there had never been a blemish on your feet. Doesn't that sound good to you? Doesn't it? Then read this.

"The corns on either of my toes were as large as the tablets you make to cure them. To-day there is no sign of corns on either foot and no soreness. It's an up-to-date Godsend.—Sam. A. Hoover, Progress, N. C."

Just use TIZ. It's not like anything else for the purpose you ever heard of. It's the only foot remedy ever made which acts on the principle of drawing out all the poisonous exudations which cause sore feet. Powders and other remedies merely clog up the pores. TIZ cleans them out and keeps them clean. It works right off. You will feel better the very first time it's used. Use it a week and you can forget you ever had sore feet. There is nothing on earth that can compare with it. TIZ is for sale at all druggists, 25 cents per box, or direct, if you wish, from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Val believed that Cadwallader Hunter had somehow contrived to bring about this hideous state of affairs; though he could not imagine how unless all Americans were ready to band together and avenge one another's fancied wrongs against a stranger.

"My luggage is worth a lot more than what I owe you here," he said. "We have heard all about that luggage."

Val bit his lip. For the moment he had forgotten Foxham's treachery, but he remembered it now with recurring rage. Evidently the valet had poured forth the history of the great unpacking episode.

"In my opinion we shall be lucky if the sale of your effects covers the bill," calmly went on the representative of the "management."

"I wouldn't advise your people to try to sell my things!" exclaimed Loveland.

"They will wait the customary length of time."

"They'd better be jolly careful what they do," Loveland broke in. "Anyhow, I'm much mistaken if I haven't a case in law against the hotel already."

If I have—and in justice I ought to have—I shall proceed."

The other smiled for the first time. "I don't expect that any of us will lie awake nights worrying," said he.

Loveland tried to crush the man with a look, but he was not so easily abashed. "I've said all I want to say now," Val informed him icily. "You can go, and I will give up the rooms when I'm ready."

"That's all right as long as it's inside half an hour," returned the other, still with unruffled politeness. "But I have to stay till you do give them up."

"Confound you! Do you think I'll set the place on fire the minute your back is turned?"

"Not so much that as—there are other things you might do."

"What other things? Really I should like to know, for the sake of curiosity."

"Well, if you're bound to get it out of me, I've got to stay and see you don't remove any articles of value."

"By Jove! So that's it—my own or yours?"

"What's yours is ours at present, and what's ours is our own, as the bride said to the bridegroom."

Val could almost have laughed, though not at the joke. He, the Marquis of Loveland, an officer in the Grenadier guards, was to be watched lest he should steal the hotel soap or sneak off with his own toothbrush!

He went white and red and white again. If by a word he could have tumbled the whole hotel down in an earthquake he would have been willing to be caught under the ruins. He had a wild, boyish conviction that by subjecting himself now to the extreme inconvenience he could by and by cause the hotel management poignant remorse. Yes, he could take them at their word. He would walk out of the house just as he was, leaving everything he had behind him. He would not even take his overcoat, and if he were struck down with pneumonia so much the worse for these insolent people.

His cap, his only head covering, as he had forgotten a bowler on board ship, lay on a table, and he held it out for the enemy's inspection. "You say all that is mine is yours," he sneered. "That may have cost 6 or 7 shillings when it was new. Now it would fetch 2 at most. I will pay you for it. Half a crown is the least I have. Pray keep the change."

He laid a coin, his last large coin, down on the table where the cap had been and without another word walked nonchalantly out of the room. Below in the great hall through which he had to pass on his way out of the hotel lights glared and dazzled, and the talk and laughter of many persons sounded in his ears. Loveland pushed on blindly, conscious of himself as the one real entity in a crowd of will-o'-the-wisps and wicked lure lights. His sole concern with the people in the hateful, glaring picture was that they should suspect nothing of his feelings. He walked with his head up and something that he meant for a smile on his lips, nor was it an affectation that he appeared to recognize no one, though Cadwallader Hunter, who had been waiting to see this exit, believed it to be.

The night was warm for November in New York. Still, there was a decided crispness in the air which Loveland felt as he went out.

The streets were brilliant with light, and half New York appeared to be abroad, although the theaters had been in full swing for nearly an hour. But all the women wore cloaks and the men overcoats. Loveland, in his dinner jacket and wide expanse of shirt front, his pumps and silk stockings, his cloth traveling cap pulled over his eyes, would have been noticeable even if his height and good looks had not made him a marked figure. Everybody who passed stared, and more than a few glanced back at him. Here and there some pretty woman laughed at a joking comment whispered by her escort, and when his first hot rage began to cool it was uncomfortably borne in upon Loveland that he was the observed of many observers.

Here he was, on a winter's night, a foreigner in a strange city, walking the streets without an overcoat and with only a coin or two in his pocket. He remembered that in the afternoon when dealing out visiting cards and letters of introduction he had slipped his cardcase into a pocket of his overcoat, where it still remained. That overcoat remained in one of the rooms lately his at the hotel. What a fool he had been, after all, to leave it behind. Meeting a policeman, he inquired for a respectable, inexpensive hotel in a quiet street not too far away and did his best to look unconscious of the big man's concentrated gaze fixed on the large white oval of his shirt front.

"Ye might try the New House, on Forty-third street," was the advice that followed upon reflection, and Loveland was obliged to ask three times before he was able to translate "Forty-third" into Thirty-third street. Then he had to turn and retrace his steps, for he had been wandering uptown and must have covered some distance, as he guessed by the length of time it took him to reach the Waldorf-Astoria again. As the light caught and photographed him in passing a man who had been standing in front of the hotel under the iron canopy with the air of waiting for some one started after Loveland, walking just fast enough to keep him well in sight.

Val turned into Thirty-third street and stopped before the New House, which electrified itself in a blaze of starry electric letters. The man on his trail smiled as he saw the tall figure in evening dress hesitate for an instant and then hurl himself at a revolving door. He himself strolled on, but he did not go far. When he had taken a dozen steps he wheeled, passed the hotel again, took a dozen more steps and again came back.

It was when he had just taken his sixth turn that Loveland shot out through the revolving door even more suddenly than he had shot in. The watcher was near enough to see the look on his face—the tenseness of the lips and drawing together of the eyebrows—and his own expression said "I thought so!" as plainly as words, if there had been any one there to read it. But Loveland was entirely absorbed in himself and in bitter thoughts of the hateful experience he had just gone through.

It was hardly to be hoped that there would be a room disengaged in a hotel for a nervous young gentleman with an exposed white shirt front, no luggage and a missing cardcase. When Val had explained that he was Lord Loveland, just landed from England, the hotel clerk turned away to hide either a yawn or a grin and seemed no more inclined to remember the existence of an unoccupied bedroom than if his client had been plain Mr. Smith or Mr. Jones.

"We had a gentleman from England here last week," he said pleasantly. "His name was Walker, London. Sorry we can't accommodate your lordship."

Then Loveland had squared his shoulders and marched out into the night, not inclined to try any more hotels. He felt very young in his loneliness and humiliation, and his heart yearned wistfully for the shabby Scotch shooting box where his mother lived and thought long thoughts of him.

IT'S QUALITY THAT COUNTS

When buying that fence for your farm don't be misled into getting a poor fence because it costs a little less per rod. You'll be sick of your bargain by the end of the first season. You'll wish you had considered quality instead of price.

PEERLESS WOVEN WIRE FENCE

is built to stand many seasons of hard usage. Made of hard steel galvanized wire that will not rust out and break.

The cross-bars are all of one piece, and give upright stability to the fence. The knot is so attached as not to injure any of the wires, can not slip, and yet permits the fence to be erected on a 45 degree angle. The wires are all the same length—uniform tension throughout and there are no bags or sags or pockets in Peerless. Make your dealer furnish Peerless—accept no substitute.

AN EASY AND HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR.

Who does not know of the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur, if properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, put up an ideal preparation of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. It is sold by all leading druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the manufacturers upon receipt of price.

SENHOR BRAGA IS PRESIDENT

Provisional Republican Government Formed at Lisbon.

KING SAFE ON BRITISH VESSEL

In the Fighting Which Accompanied the Portuguese Revolution, About 100 Were Killed Before Monarchists
Gave Up—The Young King Found Safety in Flight—Republicans at Once Form Provisional Government.

Lisbon, Oct. 6.—A provisional republican government has been formed as follows: Theophile Braga, president; Machano, minister of foreign affairs; Costa, minister of justice; Telles, minister of finance; Barreto, minister of war; Antonio Gomes, minister of public works; Alonida, minister of interior; Amaro Gomes, minister of marine; Leao, civil governor of Lisbon.

The loyalist troops went over to the insurgents at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. They quit Dom Pedro square, where they were posted, and returned to their barracks amid the "bravos" of the populace and cries of
"Long live the Republic!"

Senhor Leao, the new civil governor, addressed an immense crowd of citizens from a balcony of the town hall.
He told them that he trusted the maintenance of order to them, adding:
"Respect all public and private property and the lives of all persons whoever they may be. The republic is generous and magnanimous."

The people cheered loud and long.
No property was attacked. The banks were guarded by sailors. The bombardment by the warships did much damage, especially to the government offices and the Necessidades palace.
The tower of the palace church is down. Many people, mostly onlookers or passersby, were killed or wounded in the lower town by the bombardment. The number of deaths is estimated at about 100, while the wounded number many more.

During the earlier fighting, which lasted many hours, and went on for four or five hours in total darkness, the revolutionists were sometimes checked and retired from their positions in the Avenida Le Liberta, but they made a detour in the direction of Mon Santo, returning upon the center of the city. It was apparently the success of this movement that induced the loyalists to abandon the defense.

The Republican flag is now displayed throughout the city on all public buildings, the Bank of Portugal and many business houses and residences. People are parading the streets with arms, singing revolutionary songs.

BIG JOB AHEAD

New Government Faces Monumental
Task in Cleaning Up.

London, Oct. 6.—Although details are meager and conflicting, dispatches received from a variety of sources in Lisbon make it clear that the revolution has been successful, and a republican form of government under the presidency of Theophile Braga has been proclaimed. King Manuel, according to the most circumstantial account, took refuge first, with the tacit consent of the revolutionary leaders, on board the Brazilian warship Sao Paulo, which was lying in the harbor.
He remained there but a short time and, feeling unsafe, he took a motor boat to Cascaes, about a dozen miles distant, and remained there until the arrival of the British cruiser Newcastle Wednesday afternoon. He went aboard her and sailed for a destination variously stated to be Gibraltar, San Sebastian and England.

All accounts agree that the revolt began early Tuesday morning. It was a premature outbreak, caused by the murder of Prof. Bombarda by an army officer. The navy was represented by two warships in the harbor and led by Admiral Reis, retired, these ships opened hostilities. A large section of the troops co-operated with the warships. Considerable force remained loyal to the king and fought desperately against the insurgents for many hours. About 8,000 citizens joined in the revolutionary attack, and the casualties were severe. There is no reliable information on this point, but one dispatch places the number killed at 100.

The palace was bombarded by the warships with deadly effect, but only for ten minutes, when the red and green republican flag is said to have been hoisted.

The leaders of the revolutionary party repressed all attacks on property and unnecessary excesses, and the latest dispatches say that good order prevails. Altogether it appears to have been one of the quickest, cleanest and most businesslike revolutions of modern times. It is necessary to point out that it is by no means certain that the revolt is a permanent success.
The provinces are more loyal than Lisbon, and they have not yet been heard from. The same doubt exists as to the attitude of the regiments in the provinces. It is stated from Madrid that some at least of the provinces'

HERMAN RIDDER.
Editor Who Aided in Wiping
Out St. Patrick's Cathedral Debt

New York, Oct. 6.—The consecration of St. Patrick's cathedral has drawn together the most notable assemblage of Catholic dignitaries ever seen in this country. Archbishop Farley directed the service and there were present three princes of the church, Cardinal Vannutelli, the papal legate, Cardinal Gibbons, Cardinal Logue, Mgr.
Folconi, apostolic delegate, a long line of very reverend and right reverend monsignori, forty-one visiting bishops, twelve archbishops and 129 chaplains.

garrisons, including that of Oporto, are marching to Lisbon to support the monarchy. The only provincial center where the insurgent movement is reported to be active is Oporto, and the accounts of the situation there are conflicting. One declares that fighting occurred there similar to the capital, while another says that order was not broken.

It seems that the struggle in Lisbon was finally decided by the wholesale desertion of royalist soldiery to the revolutionists. If this is correct it may well foreshadow the ultimate course if any provincial troops still af-here to the monarchy. Even if a republic is permanently established, it will be no guarantee of prosperity.
Portugal has not been the victim of kingcraft, but of general corruption, peculation and maladministration. If the Republicans have the will and power to purge Portuguese institutions, replace the existing spoils system by the genuine representative government, and establish clean finance, they may regenerate the country and bring it out of the slough of poverty and backwardness in which it is weltering, but there is no present assurance that a weak republic rent by factions will not take the place of the weak, unstable monarchy.

The First Official Word.

London, Oct. 6.—The British foreign office has received the following dispatch from the British minister at Lisbon, dated Wednesday: "A serious disturbance broke out on Monday night, when some troops of the garrison declared themselves Republicans.
This morning troops which were hitherto loyal went over and a republic has been proclaimed. Great excitement prevails and the proclamation has been enthusiastically received by the people. It is believed that a provisional government is being formed. The king is said to be at Mafra. The queen and the prince royal were yesterday at Cascaes, but I have no recent news."

skull.

The special federal grand jury which indicted ten Chicago millionaire packers several weeks ago, expects to close its investigations with a new batch of indictments before Oct. 15, and rumor has it that there will be six new indictments on beef cases.

LABOR LEADER SUES GEN. OTIS

Editor of Los Angeles Times
Charged With Libel.

HE WAS PLACED UNDER ARREST

Alleging That He Was Criminally
Libeled in the Columns of the Times,
Andrew Gallagher Caused the Arrest of General Otis, Whose Paper Was Recently Destroyed by Explosion Which Killed Many.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 6.—General Harrison Gray Otis, proprietor of the Times, was arrested on the charge of having criminally libeled Andrew Gallagher, a San Francisco labor leader, in the columns of the Times. He was taken into a justice court, where bail was arranged.

Similar warrants were served some time ago on Harry Chandler, assistant general manager of the Times, but he was released under a habeas corpus writ issued on the ground that the warrants were insufficient.

The committee appointed by President Sullivan of the state labor federation called on Mayor Alexander to ask permission to join in the investigation now being made of the explosion. The mayor refused the request.
The labor representatives asked for a permit to go upon the Times property and conduct a separate investigation.
This also was refused.

Not only will the local strike of the metal trades and brewery workers not be declared off, but the State Federation of Labor guaranteed moral and financial assistance to the strikers, according to a resolution adopted by the state convention. Since the Times disaster the possibility of declaring the two strikes off has been agitated and one of the local newspapers which has been friendly to the union cause, has advocated such action. But the delegates to the state convention evidently are not affected by this movement.

ANOTHER TRACTION WRECK

This Time, Happily, There Were No Fatalities.

Indianapolis, Oct. 6.—When running at high speed, the Logansport car of the Union Traction line left the rails thirty feet beyond the point of a switch which curves at a sharp angle from the main track entering Broad Ripple, a few miles north of this city, and was wrecked. Ten of the thirteen passengers and the motorman were injured, none seriously. Morgan, the motorman, told those who gathered about that his brakes had failed to work some distance to the south as he was running down a grade. The switch was open, a Broad Ripple car had passed just a few moments before, and the big double-trucked car took the sharp curve at a speed which was estimated to be at least thirty miles an hour.

Grinding one slick rail with a sandbox wide open, until the rear trucks were twenty feet from the point of the switch, the car made a strenuous attempt to clear the curve, toppled and crashed over on its side, derailed and torn loose from both trucks.

Passengers, taken unawares, had no time to escape by jumping. Conductor Williams of Tipton was the only one aboard the car to escape in this manner.

ORDERS DISREGARDED

Illinois Traction Company Blames Motorman For Wreck.

Stamton, Ill., Oct. 6.—Disregard of the train dispatcher's orders and a sharp bend in the track, which hid two rushing trolley cars from each other, were responsible for the wreck near here Tuesday evening in which thirty-six passengers were killed and thirty-one seriously injured. Several are not expected to live.

In a signed statement, issued by Mr.
Chubbuck, vice president of the Illinois traction system, John Lierman of Stamton, the motorman of the northbound car, is wholly responsible for the collision. Chubbuck's account of the wreck is that Lierman overran an order instructing him to wait at Stamton for the second section of a southbound limited interurban.
